Foreword

Curriculum in this document is based on the National Core Arts Standards published in the spring of 2014. It has been developed by visual art educators and curriculum specialists in the Des Moines Public Schools. The objectives in this curriculum guide are the minimum requirements in the visual arts that set rigorous, relevant, clear, and measurable learning targets and expectations for what teachers should teach and students should learn. Schools and educators are continuously encouraged to go beyond these targets to better serve the needs of all students in the visual arts.

Definition of the Visual Arts

Visual arts include the traditional fine arts such as drawing, painting, printmaking, photography, and sculpture; media arts including film, graphic communications, animation, and emerging technologies; architectural, environmental, and industrial arts such as urban, interior, product, and landscape design; folk arts; and works of art such as ceramics, fibers, jewelry, works in wood, paper, and other materials. –

Honors & AP Studio Art Curriculum Guide

How to use this document:

This curriculum guide is not...

- A lock-step instructional guide detailing exactly when and how you teach.
- Meant to restrict your creativity as a teacher.
- A ceiling of what your students can learn, nor a set of unattainable goals.

Instead, the curriculum guide is meant to be a common vision for student learning and a set of standards by which to measure and report student progress and provide meaningful feedback.

The curriculum guide outlines which learning goals are most essential for student learning; it is our district's guaranteed and viable curriculum. The expectation is that every student in our district, regardless of school or classroom, will know and understand these learning goals. As the classroom teacher, you should use the curriculum guide to help you to decide how to scaffold up to the learning goals, and extend your students' learning beyond them.

The curriculum guide is a planning tool; assessed clusters and topics are provided, but as the instructional leader of your classroom, you determine the scope and sequence in which you will introduce the prioritized learning goals. You are encouraged to create your own sub-units of study within each cluster using the topics as a starting point. Within this document you will find a foundational structure for planning instruction in the visual arts which can be supplemented with unlimited materials from any number of sources, including but not limited to district texts and prints.

Please consider this guide a living and dynamic document, subject to change and a part of a continuous feedback loop.

Document Structures

Learning goals for all curricular areas are organized by overarching concepts called topics. Within those topics live a learning goal. All learning goals for the visual arts are guided by the 2014 National Visual Arts Standards and assessed on the provided reporting scales.

Evidence of student learning is assessed on a four-point scale, common throughout the district. Scales are designed to measure each learning topic. The generalized scale, with student-friendly language included, is below.

SCALE SCORE	ACADEMIC DESCRIPTOR	STUDENT-FRIENDLY DESCRIPTOR
4	Exceeding Standard	I have demonstrated deep understanding that goes beyond the learning goal
3	Meeting Standard	I have met the learning goal
2	Developing Toward Standard	I have the foundational skills and knowledge for the learning goal and I am almost there
1	Insufficient Progress	The evidence I have submitted shows I have a long way to go to reach the learning goal
0/M	No evidence of student understanding in submitted work OR Missing – student has not submitted evidence	I have not submitted evidence of learning for the learning goal

*For more information on district assessment and grading practices, please refer to the Grading Practices website <http://grading.dmschools.org/teacher-resources.html>

College Board Instructional Goals

The instructional goals of the AP Studio Art Program can be described as follows:

- Encourage creative and systematic investigation of formal and conceptual issues.
- Emphasize making art as an ongoing process that involves the student in informed and critical decision making.
- Help students develop technical skills and familiarize them with the functions of visual elements.
- Encourage students to become independent thinkers who will contribute inventively and critically to their culture through artmaking.

Honors & AP Studio Art Curriculum Guide

The AP Studio Art Development Committee recognizes that there is no single, prescriptive model for developing a rigorous, college-level studio art course. Accordingly, the committee has chosen to suggest guidelines for the submission of an AP portfolio rather than to delineate a specific course. The portfolios are designed to allow freedom in structuring AP Studio Art courses while keeping in mind that the quality and breadth of work should reflect first-year college-level standards. Therefore, the major responsibility for creating an AP course in art and preparing work to submit for evaluation belongs to the participating students and teachers. Teachers of AP Studio Art courses in the Des Moines Public Schools have collaborated to determine common learning goals and scales in alignment with the portfolio submission standards.

AP courses should address three major concerns that are constants in the teaching of art:

1. The student's ability to recognize quality in her or his work
2. The student's concentration on a sustained investigation of a particular visual interest or problem
3. A range of approaches to the formal, technical, and expressive means of the artist.

AP work should reflect these three areas of concern: quality (selected works), concentration (sustained investigation), and breadth (range of approaches).

Elements of Art

The elements of art are the building blocks used by artists to create a work of art.

Line is a mark with greater length than width. Lines can be horizontal, vertical, or diagonal; straight or curved; thick or thin.

Shape is a closed line. Shapes can be geometric, like squares and circles; or organic, like free-form or natural shapes. Shapes are flat and can express length and width.

Forms are three-dimensional shapes expressing length, width, and depth. Balls, cylinders, boxes, and pyramids are forms.

Space is the area between and around objects. The space around objects is often called negative space; negative space has shape. Space can also refer to the feeling of depth. Real space is three-dimensional; in visual art, when we create the feeling or illusion of depth, we call it space.

Color is light reflected off of objects. Color has three main characteristics: hue (the name of the color, such as red, green, blue, etc.), value (how light or dark it is), and intensity (how bright or dull it is).

- White is pure light; black is the absence of light.
- Primary colors are the only true colors (red, blue, and yellow). All other colors are mixes of primary colors.
- Secondary colors are two primary colors mixed together (green, orange, violet).
- Intermediate colors, sometimes called tertiary colors, are made by mixing a primary and secondary color together. Some examples of intermediate colors are yellow green, blue green, and blue violet.
- Complementary colors are located directly across from each other on the color wheel (an arrangement of colors along a circular diagram to show how they are related to one another). Complementary pairs contrast because they share no common colors. For example, red and green are complements, because green is made of blue and yellow. When complementary colors are mixed together, they neutralize each other to make brown.

Texture is the surface quality that can be seen and felt. Textures can be rough or smooth, soft or hard. Textures do not always feel the way they look; for example, a drawing of a porcupine may look prickly, but if you touch the drawing, the paper is still smooth.

Principles of Design

The principles of design describe the ways that artists use the elements of art in a work of art.

Balance is the distribution of the visual weight of objects, colors, texture, and space. If the design was a scale, these elements should be balanced to make a design feel stable. In symmetrical balance, the elements used on one side of the design are similar to those on the other side; in asymmetrical balance, the sides are different but still look balanced. In radial balance, the elements are arranged around a central point and may be similar.

Emphasis is the part of the design that catches the viewer's attention. Usually the artist will make one area stand out by contrasting it with other areas. The area could be different in size, color, texture, shape, etc.

Movement is the path the viewer's eye takes through the work of art, often to focal areas. Such movement can be directed along lines, edges, shape, and color within the work of art.

Pattern is the repeating of an object or symbol all over the work of art.

Repetition works with pattern to make the work of art seem active. The repetition of elements of design creates unity within the work of art.

Proportion is the feeling of unity created when all parts (sizes, amounts, or number) relate well with each other. When drawing the human figure, proportion can refer to the size of the head compared to the rest of the body.

Rhythm is created when one or more elements of design are used repeatedly to create a feeling of organized movement. Rhythm creates a mood like music or dancing. To keep rhythm exciting and active, variety is essential.

Variety is the use of several elements of design to hold the viewer's attention and to guide the viewer's eye through and around the work of art.

Unity is the feeling of harmony between all parts of the work of art, which creates a sense of completeness.

Four-Step Critical Analysis Process

- Step 1: Describe – *What do you see?
  - Credit line information such as title, artist, date created, size, medium, location, genre.
  - What do you see in the art work? Use objective observations and identification skills. All descriptions must be observable facts.
  - EXAMPLE: “Starry Night, Vincent Van Gogh, 1832...I see a large cypress tree in the foreground. I can tell it is a cypress by the shape. The majority of the picture is taken up by a night sky. There are many stars in the sky. Etc....”
- Step 2: Analyze—*How is the work organized?
  - Focus on how the Elements of Art and Principles of Design have been used in the artwork. You are still collecting clues, not guessing! How do the Principles organize the Elements? Use specific evidence from the art. This will help you discover how the artist might have created moods, messages, or ideas.
  - EXAMPLE: “The night sky is dark blue, and it is filled with vibrant yellow stars. The pattern of the stars moves the viewer’s eye back and forth throughout the painting. The repetition of the yellow into the village lights help give the picture unity. Etc....”
- Step 3: Interpret – *“What is the artist saying?”
  - Using the information from the description and analysis, explain what the artist might be trying to communicate. What is the mood or the meaning of the artwork? Make some guesses and provide some evidence for your thinking using the Elements and Principles. Your interpretation might be different from someone else’s.
  - Answer the question, “I think _____, because I see _____.”
  - EXAMPLE: “I think the artist is trying to show a connection between a sleepy peaceful mood and the quiet little town, because the artists uses the some colors and kinds of lines in the sky and the village. I see the colors and the soft, swirling lines in the sky, and it makes me think the artist was trying to show that even a dark sky can have lots to see. Etc....”
- Step 4: Judge – *“Is this a successful piece of art?”
  - Now you can finally express your own personal opinion about the piece of art. Your opinion, however, is still based on what you’ve discovered through description, analysis, and interpretation, all backed up with visual evidence and the language of art. This is a carefully thought out decision in which you decided if the art was successful or not successful, not necessarily a like or dislike.
  - Answer this questions, “I think this work is (not) successful because _____.”
  - EXAMPLE: “I think this work is successful because it the colors and lines are organized in an interesting, swirly way that grabs my attention. The work is almost like a lullaby because the yellow stars twinkle in the sky like peaceful little notes over the sleepy town. Etc...
